Modern Slavery Statement

This statement sets out TNA Australia Pty Limited (ACN 002 937 859) and its subsidiaries' (TNA), commitment to tackling and eradicating modern day slavery from our supply chains, and ensuring our policies and procedures protect the rights of all employees and those companies to whom we provide services.

This statement is made for TNA covering the financial year ending 30 June 2021.

1. OUR BUSINESS, STRUCTURE AND SUPPLY CHAINS

BACKGROUND

TNA is a leading global supplier of integrated food packaging solutions with over 6,000 systems installed across more than 120 countries.

The company provides a comprehensive range of products including spraying, distribution, seasoning, weighing, packaging, metal detection and identification solutions. TNA's unique combination of innovative technologies, extensive project management experience, and global support, ensures customers achieve faster, more reliable and flexible packaged food products at the lowest cost of ownership.

TNA designs and manufactures Vertical Form Fill and Seal (VFFS) machines.

TNA's products, which include a range of patented robag® stand-alone and turnkey systems, are renowned in the industry for bagging speed capabilities, efficiency and overall performance. The patented robag® Vertical Form Fill and Seal System, has been an outstanding success in the snack, confectionery, cereal, biscuit and pasta markets.

Since its inception in 1982, TNA has earned the acceptance and respect of the global food packaging industry. With 40% of the VFFS market in TNA's embrace, over 6000 machines have been installed in factories in over 120 countries globally.

OUR BUSINESS

TNA uses its head office in Sydney, Australia to test and evaluate packaged products prior to their release in the market. The robag® machines are manufactured at TNA's manufacturing plant in Victoria.

TNA's extensive range of products include the robag®, weighers, metal detectors, seal testers, inserters, labellers, formers, thermal transfer coders, film perforators, dynamic check weighers, and data logging software also known as Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition (SCADA).

TNA has extensive local and international skills in high speed applications across a wide variety of products and a product range that can be totally integrated to maximise the strength and capacity of each piece of equipment. TNA brings together the right configuration that best suits the unique packaging requirements of each customer. This is the hallmark of TNA's superior performance delivery system.

CONSULTATION WITH CONTROLLED ENTITIES

Before lodging this statement, TNA undertook discussions with all its subsidiary companies involved in the production of its products, including all entities over which TNA held a "controlling interest" in the relevant financial year, namely those entities identified in the organisational structure outlined above. The input of those subsidiary entities was taken into account in preparing this statement. TNA did not engage in any such discussions with any parent entities because TNA is the ultimate parent entity in the corporate structure.

TNA strives to take a consultative approach to modern slavery risks and plans to continue its discussions with controlled entities throughout the next financial year in the interests of encouraging dialogue within its supply chain in relation to modern slavery risks. This dialogue also enables greater visibility over the supply chain so that TNA can readily identify modern slavery risks.

OUR SUPPLY CHAIN

TNA deals with a number of its suppliers directly for items including goods and services used in providing products to clients.

TNA's supply chain is made up of approximately 375 contracted suppliers across 12 countries.

Our existing supplier partners are often established suppliers, whose products and services assist in the creation and development of our own products.

Our Sales Team suppliers are predominantly located in Australia, China, Netherlands, UK, North and South America. The main types of goods and services this team procures includes, potato washing, peeling, cutting, frying, weighing and packaging equipment.

Our Group After Market and Services Team has a predominant supplier, which is a third party training organisation. The structure of the arrangement with the training organisation includes a retainer for them to build customised material, and deliver training to TNA's customer service and logistics function. This training organisation provides trainers in Australia, Brazil and Belgium.

Our Packaging and Distribution Team employs staff in Australia from workforce agencies. The team predominantly provides machines and fabricated components to create TNA's products. The team's suppliers are located in Australia, and China, and low volumes of suppliers are located in UK, Japan, Taiwan, France, Italy and Singapore.

Our Marketing Team sources services from suppliers in Australia, UK, North and South America and Singapore. The products that it procures include promotional services and graphic design.

Our Business Transformation Team procures consulting services, IT hardware and IT licensing from major IT companies including Microsoft, Lenovo, Insight Global, Autodesk and DXC Technology. The team's suppliers are predominantly located in Australia, Netherlands, UK, Thailand, New Zealand, North and South America.

Our suppliers and partners are largely categorised as follows:

1. Marketing services, creative content, design and event management;
2. Human Resource services, including payroll processing and recruitment;
3. Accounting and finance;
4. Professional services, including legal and tax advice;
5. Freight, transportation and packaging supplies;
6. IT and cloud services, including hardware, software supplies, maintenance, web-hosting and design;
7. Office, administration related services, supplies, cleaning and courier services; and
8. Machine parts procurement and warehouse manufacturing.

2. RISKS OF MODERN SLAVERY PRACTICES IN TNA'S OPERATIONS AND SUPPLY CHAINS

TNA is a services based business, and continues to build on innovative technologies in relation to food processing, packaging and design. In turn TNA procures products for its clients from third party suppliers.

The products of third party suppliers are predominantly sourced through TNA's Australian operations, however, at times TNA can procure services outside of Australia.

Our teams listed above, have suppliers in the following locations:

1. Australia;
2. New Zealand;
3. South Africa;
4. Europe and specifically, UK, Netherlands, Belgium, France, Spain, Russia, Germany, Serbia and Italy;
5. Asia and specifically, China, Japan, Taiwan, Singapore, and Thailand;
6. North and South America, and specifically, Brazil, Chile, Mexico, and Texas;
7. Middle East, and specifically, Israel, United Arab Emirates (Dubai); and
8. South Africa.

Operational or manual services described above can be procured from a global supply chain, which heightens the risk of purchasing from operations or countries where slavery may be taking place. With this in mind, we take all reasonable steps to ensure we source responsibly.

We acknowledge that our Sales Team also has operations in high risk sectors and emerging markets, including selling machinery to large multinational global businesses.

We acknowledge in particular that countries including Russia and Thailand are identified as much higher-risk countries under the Modern Slavery Index published by the Walk Free Foundation. In managing our Russia and Thailand suppliers, TNA seeks to comply with all laws and regulations of Russia and Thailand.

TNA's suppliers can be larger organisations, and for this reason, TNA considers that the risks of modern slavery may be likely beyond the first tier of TNA's supply chains. We acknowledge that TNA's suppliers may outsource tasks, including manufacturing and development of products in higher risk countries overseas, which may increase the risk of exploited labour.

3. ACTIONS TNA TAKES TO ASSESS AND ADDRESS THESE RISKS

We are committed to a process of upholding practices against modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains, or in any part of our business.

TNA employs staff in accordance with the laws of each country within which it operates. TNA ensures that it pays wages as per the local laws, industry guidelines and benchmarks. These operations are closely managed and monitored by TNA's global People and Culture Team.

TNA commits to acting ethically and with integrity in all of our business relationships. Our commitment is also supported by policies and procedures which ensures responsibility and accountability for improving business practices, and eliminating modern slavery in supply chains at all levels of our business.

TNA aims to never cause or contribute to modern slavery, and continues to conduct its due diligence, to identify, prevent, mitigate, account for and address modern slavery risks. TNA recruits professional staff in our People and Culture Team to check on working conditions, and ensure subsidiaries comply with local laws and guidelines. Our People and Culture Team also ensures that when utilising labour hire agencies, that they obtain agency contracts and detailed audits of pay rates to ensure staff are being paid correctly.

Our Business Transformation Team, also takes steps to ensure that its IT suppliers are socially, legally, and ethically responsible, as they are often large companies with global supply chains of their own. The Business Transformation Team requests responsible sourcing statements from all of its suppliers, to ensure suppliers are treating their employees fairly and with dignity.

OUR POLICY FRAMEWORK

Our Leadership Team at TNA has overall responsibility to establish and enforce policies. Our Leadership Team delegate this responsibility to management teams within TNA.

TNA's Employee Handbook sets the behavioural standards for all TNA employees, contractors and consultants. The Employee Handbook helps set a consistent global approach for all TNA employees.

At TNA, our values underpin our everyday actions, and we use them as a guiding benchmark in our conduct and working relationships with customers and suppliers. TNA's values are:

1. We enjoy our work: we are passionate, professional, committed and always act with integrity.
2. We get on with the job: politics are out, and bureaucracy is avoided wherever possible.
3. We support our people: we are honest, and treat everyone with dignity and respect.
4. We act as a team: we each take responsibility for our work, we share our successes and learn from our mistakes.

Our Employee Handbook also sets out our Corporate Social Responsibility regime, which sets an example and standard for both our employees and our suppliers. Our Corporate Social Responsibility regime sets the social, moral and ethical benchmark in which TNA brands itself, to seek out like-minded suppliers.

Our Corporate Social Responsibility regime includes the following initiatives:

Global Goodwill - Lending a hand to the world's underprivileged children

Caring for underprivileged children globally has been a TNA focus since the company's inception. We believe it is a responsibility that we should all share. It is a way to not only improve the life and conditions of children and their families, but also to encourage the advancement and quality of communities in which we work.

TNA's main priority is education as well as the building of schools, which is a step that can help to considerably limit modern day slavery for children. TNA is proud to actively support many charities through funds and personally participating in important projects.

Abuse, hunger, slavery, poverty and the ramifications of war and injustice, are problems that are rife across the globe. TNA is playing an active part in assisting to stop these devastating realities, particularly where children are involved. Some of the projects TNA participates in, include the following:

1. Indigenous communities (Australia)
Assisting with establishing a house for children who live in extreme poverty, children who have been sexually abused, and teenagers who are at risk of committing suicide.
2. Make a Difference (Australia)
A service that provides support for children and their families who are experiencing severe poverty, trauma or other difficulties. It is a charity with a very special charter to provide financial and mentoring support.
3. Donated Goods (Australia)
A warehouse that was reopened by TNA after it was shut down by the government. Providing free of charge furniture, home appliances, kitchenware and clothing to underprivileged children and their families.
4. Diepsloot School (South Africa)
TNA worked with the committee of the South African School Children's Help Appeal (SAScHA), who provide support for children and their families who are experiencing severe poverty, trauma or other difficulties. SAScHA were looking for corporate partners. TNA assisted in the building of classrooms and the school hall. In 2001 the school housed 247 students, today the number of children being educated is at 1600.
5. Kids Care (South Africa)
TNA are assisting Kids Care by feeding 100 orphaned children (who have lost their parents to AIDS), as well as single mothers and fathers who are unemployed and struggling to survive.
6. Nuestros Pequenos Hermanos (NPH) "Our Little Brothers & Sisters" (Mexico)
TNA provides financial support to this charitable organisation which serves over 1,000 orphaned and abandoned children from all corners of Mexico, ranging in age from infancy to young adults. NPH provides shelter, food, clothing, health care and education. The children are loved and prepared to support themselves in life.
7. Sri Aurobindo Yoga Mandir Trust (Nepal)
TNA assisted in the housing, teaching and feeding of orphans and children of single mothers. The trust creates a high level of education so that children can become independent.
8. Albania
TNA purchased a home to be used as a safe house/community centre for girls who have been sold into slavery and prostitution, so that when they are rescued by police in countries like Italy and Greece, they can be returned to the Albanian border, and have a home to prevent the Mafia from capturing the children to resell them.

9. Sri Jai Sankara Trust (India)

TNA funded the building of a permanent home/rehabilitation centre (close to a school) for orphaned and deprived children from a tsunami hit fishing village, to accommodate 30 to 40 children.

10. Global Vision International (GVI) – (Guatemala) Education

Donating funds in the form of scholarships to 250 children, to attend school in Guatemala, providing indigenous children of the village with a means of breaking out of the poverty cycle.

11. Women in the community

To empower women in the community through support of women's co-ops and manufacturing of traditional clothing. To support poor families of children attending the program through provision of adequate nutritious food.

12. Nakuru, Kenya and Cuttesslowe, Oxford Community Development Project (Kenya)

TNA helped to build and equip a garage with tools, to provide a business and jobs for underprivileged children, and provide a school for them. In Nakuru there is 70% unemployment, very high rates of HIV and Malaria.

Further initiatives can be found in our Employee Handbook which is attached to this statement.

Our Employee Handbook is provided to all employees on induction. Employees are also required to sign, witness and acknowledge that the employee is aware of TNA's values, the initiatives it is involved in, and the ethics that underpin the business with respect to corporate social responsibility and modern day slavery.

Our Code of Ethics and Professional Conduct (Code of Ethics), located in our Employee Handbook, is another important tool used by TNA to list our key moral and social responsibilities and ensures that our employees' values are aligned to that of the business. Our Code of Ethics strictly prohibits discrimination, harassment or vilification on the basis of:

1. Age;
2. Race or Ethnicity;
3. Gender;
4. Religious or political beliefs;
5. Profession; and
6. Socio-economic background.

Workplace harassment, bullying and violence is also strictly prohibited.

Our Employee Handbook is strict and clear on Fair Dealings. Fair Dealings is an obligation to conduct our business activities in a lawful, ethical and fair manner (Fair Dealings). The Employee Handbook is clear that if employees are approached to provide any gifts or favours to suppliers, to report it to their relevant manager.

Health and Safety is also paramount to TNA's operations. TNA is committed to work health and safety and makes every reasonable effort to prevent accidents, protect employees and promote health, safety and wellbeing to all, whilst on our premises and whilst acting on our behalf at other locations (eg. client sites). TNA also expects its suppliers to comply with the relevant work health and safety laws of each country.

Our Employee Handbook is clear that TNA is committed to conducting regular inspections to identify potential hazards and risks to employee health and safety, with the view to eliminating, mitigating or minimising safety risks (where possible).

The Employee Handbook encourages employees to not work in excess of a certain amount of hours, and requests that at the minimum, employees have at least 10 hours rest and personal time between shifts, or regular days of work. This is regularly enforced in the workplace by line managers.

TNA has policies and procedures which support a zero-tolerance approach to modern day slavery in our business, including our:

1. Equal Opportunity Policy;
2. Health and Safety Policy;
3. Workplace Bullying Policy;
4. Workplace Harassment Policy; and
5. Grievance Policy.

We see ourselves as being advocates in our industry and understand the role we play in setting an example.

We strongly encourage and support diversity across all levels of our business, to improve business performance, encourage innovation, attract and retain the best talent and provide excellent customer outcomes.

All staff members are responsible for being aware of the policies whether they are ethical, or legal and for ensuring they apply those policies to their jobs. Our Leadership Team and managers are responsible for creating and promoting environments in which we comply and ensure ethical business is conducted.

TNA expects its suppliers to maintain the highest standards of business ethics and become familiar with, and comply with all laws that are relevant to the supplier relationship, including the laws that govern TNA.

We do our utmost to act with integrity, honesty, trust, respect and fairness. If employees are aware of any violation of the law or company rules, including any modern slavery practices, we encourage employees to contact their supervisors for complaints, grievances and suggestions immediately. In the event that supervisors cannot assist, it is recommended that employees contact the People and Culture Team.

If employees still require assistance to report grievances or concerns that they have, they are encouraged to report Complaints and Suggestions to their managers or our People and Culture Team.

TRAINING

Training is an integral part of our business framework. It ensures that all employees are aware of their responsibilities.

All new employees are required to review, acknowledge and sign our Employee Handbook on induction, which details our core values and responsibilities at TNA globally. During the onboarding and induction of new employees, aspects covered include our values, code of conduct, key policies, health and safety, discrimination, bullying and harassment.

With regards to modern day slavery and our employees, we will need to determine what the best approach will be to create awareness of the signs of modern-day slavery moving forward.

4. HOW TNA ASSESSES THE EFFECTIVENESS OF ACTIONS BEING TAKEN TO ASSESS AND ADDRESS THESE RISKS

TNA is committed to assessing the effectiveness of actions being taken to assess and address the risks of modern slavery within its operations.

At present, TNA has set up recordkeeping within the People and Culture Team. Employee guidelines specify that, should any issues arise with respect to the risks associated with modern slavery, such issues are to be notified to management and People and Culture. Records would be kept of any such reports, and actions would be taken to address any such risks, if identified, including alternate sourcing of material or components where required.

Moving forward, TNA will determine what further actions and measures can be taken to ensure TNA is able to regularly assess the effectiveness of the actions being taken to address modern slavery risks.
